Syllabus for OT 505: “Christ in the Old Testament”

Winter Session, 8:45AM – 12:15PM

Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, January 3-24, 2014 and Tuesday, January 21, 2014
(potential snow day on Thursday, January 23, 2014)

Instructor: Gordon Hugenberger

General Comments:

NOTE: Classes start at 8:45 AM!

This course offers a survey of selected Old Testament messianic prophecies, as well as selected messianic types, particularly those which are identified by the New Testament as predictive of, or fulfilled in Christ. The emphasis of the course will be on the interpretation of these texts and types as understood within their Old Testament context. Among the topics to be considered will be many of the following (to be determined according to the available time): Genesis 3, 9, 12, 15, 22, 49; Exodus 17; Leviticus 16, with an introduction to the Old Testament sacrificial system; Numbers 24; Deuteronomy 18; Judges 13-16; 1 Samuel 17; 2 Samuel 7, 12-18; 24; Psalm 8, 16, 22, 69, 110; Isaiah 7, 9, 11, 53; Micah 5; Daniel 2, 7, 9; Jonah; Zechariah 3, 6; and Malachi.

This course is an English Bible course which is designed to meet the Old Testament core requirement for the MA programs.

N.B.: Because of a degree of unavoidable overlap in subject matter (perhaps as much as a third), this course may not be ideal for students who have taken Prof. Hugenberger’s OT 501, “Theology of the Pentateuch” on Semlink.

Textbooks:

You are required to read 43 chapters from the Old Testament (NIV or ESV are recommended, but any translation of your choice is permitted). These chapters are listed on the Reading Report. You do not need to include any reading notes on your Bible reading.

In addition, you are required to read and report (with BRIEF reading notes that you will submit) on 950 pages of secondary source material, as follows:

READ all the above BEFORE the Final Exam.

8) You are also required to read and report on 224 pages to be chosen according to your preference from the following works (I will make recommendations in class; none of this reading will be tested on the Final):

Note that Tyndale House Library Catalogue is an excellent online resource for electronic books and bibliography in the field of biblical studies <www.tyncat.com>. See also their technical resources at <www.tyndale.cam.ac.uk/index.php?page=tyndale-tech>.

Requirements, Testing, and Grading:

You will be graded on a 100-point scale as follows:

1) In preparation for each class period, excluding the first, you will be required to read before class an assigned portion of the English Bible as well as about 70 pages from the required secondary sources listed above. For the purpose of grading yourself, “reading” implies a substantial degree of comprehension and should not be equated with “skimming.” You need not, however, read every footnote. You will also be required to read some additional material after the Final Exam.

You are to keep track of your success in this reading requirement by means of a daily entry in a “Reading Report,” which will be submitted, along with the above-mentioned reading notes, on or before the last day permitted for written work (Monday, February 3, 2014). NOTE: your Reading Report must be mailed to me and postmarked on or before February 3, 2014.

award yourself 1 pt. each day if your reading was completed on time; award yourself $\frac{1}{2}$ pt. if the required reading was completed late $\quad 10$ pts.
When you submit your Reading Report, you must also submit approx. 2-3 pages of typed or legibly hand written reading notes for each book and 1 page of notes for each article and each ANE text. These notes need not be complete sentences. They should show me, however, that you read the material in a thoughtful way. In particular, they should 1) briefly summarize the major point(s) of the book or article; 2) list some exceptional insights with their page locations; and 3) list, again with page locations, any difficulties, weaknesses, or places where the author disagrees with material presented in the lectures. Inadequate quality in these reports will result in an appropriate deduction from the points awarded for this reading assignment. Written notes on the Bible reading are not required.

2) In-class participation of students (including, perhaps, written pop quizzes).
   Students will be informally graded on a daily basis by the instructor. Points will be awarded for: a) intelligent relevant questions, as well as answers, prompted by outside reading or by the lecture; b) accurate summaries of the content of previous lectures or reading material; c) insightful critiques of the readings or of Hugenberger. If there is no basis for assigning a grade for the in-class participation of a student, a grade may be given based on the average of other points earned by the student. 10 pts.

3) A Mid-Term Exam will be given on Monday, January 13, 2014 (short answers reflecting class lectures). NOTE: This is a closed book quiz. You are permitted, however, to have an English Bible (and/or Hebrew Bible), so long as it has no printed notes nor any handwritten notes. You will not be permitted to use a concordance. 30 pts.

4) A cumulative Final Exam will be given on Friday, January 24, 2014 (short answers reflecting all class lectures, especially those since the Mid-term exam, and all required reading; there will also be an essay question which will allow you to apply the things you have learned to one of several messianic prophecies which will be announced ahead of time, but on which there will have been no lectures). NOTE: This is a closed book quiz. You are permitted, however, to have an English Bible (and/or Hebrew Bible), so long as it has no printed notes, nor any handwritten notes. You will not be permitted to use a concordance. 50 pts.

5) Extra credit (up to 1 1/2 pts.) will be given to students for the following:
   For students who enter this course without any knowledge of Hebrew, extra credit will be given for those who learn the Hebrew writing system (i.e. 1 pt. for the consonants and 1 pt. for the vowels, up to a maximum of 1 1/2 pts). To confirm this knowledge a brief test will be given with the Final Exam on Friday, January 24, 2014. Extra credit will be given for any student who indicates on the Reading Report a significant degree of additional outside reading for this course. 1/2 pt. will be awarded for each 100 pages read (up to a maximum of 1 1/2 pts). This reading may be done at any time before Monday, February 3, 2014, the deadline for submission of the Reading Report. No typed reading notes are required for this extra reading. up to 1 1/2 pts.

Grades will be computed on the basis of the percentage of points awarded out of 100 -- so a total of 97 will convert into an “A+,” 93 and above will earn an “A,” 90 and above will earn an “A-.” The lowest possible passing grade will be a total of 60 points, or a “D-.”

Office Hours
Kyle Lammott will be serving as the Byington Scholar for this course (January, 2014). If you have any questions or would welcome tutoring help, please feel free to contact him at <klammott@gmail.com>, or GCTS Box 285-B, or phone him during reasonable hours at 303-908-5185.

Auditors
Regularly admitted students may take this course as an official audit by securing the necessary approval from the registration office and by paying the appropriate fee. Please inform the professor so that your attendance will be noted.
Others may take this course as a courtesy audit if they are regularly admitted students at GCTS, GCTS employees, or the spouses of students or of employees. Only one courtesy audit is permitted per semester. Courtesy auditors are required to secure approval from the registration office and from the professor.

Intellectual Property Right Policy (as approved by the GCTS Faculty, April 18, 2007)

To protect the professor’s intellectual property rights with regard to classroom content, students are asked to refrain from audio and video recording of classes, as well as audio, video, and written publication (including internet posting and broadcasting) or live transmission of classroom proceedings.

Internet Usage Policy (as approved by the GCTS Faculty, April 18, 2007)

Students are asked to refrain from accessing the internet at any point during class sessions, unless otherwise instructed by the professor. “Surfing the web,” checking email, and other internet-based activities are distracting to other students and to the professor, and prevent the student from fully participating in the class session.

The Final Exam Essay Question

The Final Exam will include one essay question which will invite you to write a one page essay on one out of three biblical texts which will not have been discussed in the lectures, but which will allow you to apply the methods of this course to a disputed messianic prophecy. The following are possible candidates for this question. The exact three texts that will be on the exam, from which you will choose one text for your essay, will be announced on or before Monday, January 13, 2014.

- Numbers 24 “Jesus Christ, the Star of Jacob”
- Psalm 2 “Jesus Christ, the Son of God”
- Psalm 72 “Jesus Christ, Seed of David and Seed of Abraham”
- Psalm 110 “Jesus Christ, the Priest-King After the Order of Melchizedek”
- Jeremiah 33:14-26 “Jesus Christ, the Righteous Branch of Jeremiah’s Vision”
- Ezekiel 34 “Jesus Christ, the true Shepherd and David who was to Come”
- Hosea 11:1 “Out of Egypt I have called My son” [see Matthew 2:15]
- Zechariah 6:9-15 “Jesus Christ, the true Priest-King and Coming Branch”
First Part of Reading Report for OT 505: “Christ in the Old Testament”

You should fill out the relevant portions of this Reading Report on a daily basis. You must complete it, sign it, and submit it to me, postmarked no later than Monday, February 4, 2014. Please mail to Kyle Lammott, GCTS Box 285-B, or to me, Dr. Gordon P. Hugenberger, c/o Park Street Church, 1 Park Street, Boston, MA 02108-4802.

For the purpose of grading yourself, “reading” implies a substantial degree of comprehension and should not be equated with “skimming.” You are not required, however, to read every footnote.

It is understood that many students will have read the Bible some time in the past. In order to satisfy this reading requirement, however, you must read through the assigned portions for this course. Accordingly, NO Bible reading accomplished PRIOR TO November 1, 2013 will be accepted as meeting this requirement. Check each portion of the Bible that you have carefully read for this course:
