Course Description
A study of theological method, revelation, inspiration, and canon of Scripture, existence and attributes of God, Trinity, creation and providence, human nature, original and actual sin.

Gordon-Conwell Mission
This course satisfies the following institutional learning objectives
- To maintain academic excellence in the highest tradition of Christian scholarship in the teaching of the biblical, historical and theological disciplines. (Article 2)

Course Learning Objectives
This course, like its successor TH502, is designed to give students a basic and growing competence in the area of theology through careful consideration of the Bible’s teaching on core Christian doctrines, the church’s formulation of those doctrines in history, and the expression of those doctrines in the varied contexts of contemporary society. In keeping with the institutional learning objective stated above, I intend that upon completing this course, you will:

1. Survey the biblical teaching on the doctrines covered in the course.
2. Articulate terms and issues important to theological discussion.
3. Analyze various theological positions critically and develop your own positions on the doctrines studied.
4. Articulate and value the implications of the doctrines studied for your own spiritual life, Christian character, and ministries.

Required Materials

"Chicago Statement on Inerrancy" and "Fairbairn's Statement on Scripture," both available in the Resources folder

Please note that in all assignments, the four books above will be cited by author's/editor's last name (Coakley/Sterk, Logan, Swan, Wilken).

Course Requirements

Achievement of the course objectives will be measured through a variety of activities as described below. The successful completion of these activities will require each student to spend at least 135 hours devoted to coursework, both in class and out of class. The following chart indicates approximate time commitments for the various learning activities. Descriptions of the assignments are listed below.

Learning Activities

Part 1: Gathering Information - The learning activities in this part all work together to help you identify and absorb the information you need to handle the theological doctrines of this course appropriately. These activities enable you to achieve course objectives 1 and 2 above.

Readings

You must complete all the reading prescribed below, including approximately half of Erickson and McGrath, all of Fairbairn and Tennent, 63 short articles on theological terms from Elwell, and two short documents available on Sakai. This reading totals the equivalent of about 1700 single-spaced pages. (McGrath is double-columned, so this total counts each page of McGrath as two pages.)

Please note that the reading load varies from week to week. You may want to use light reading weeks to get ahead on future reading. Graded assignments are generally due during weeks with or no reading. Please see the Weekly Workload Chart (available by clicking the link or navigating to the "General Files" folder in Resources) to aid in your planning.

You will be required to submit a Reading Report at the end of the course.

Video Presentations

You must view/listen to the video presentations as listed in the individual lessons. The lectures (as opposed to module introduction videos) are accompanied by handouts, which you may download either in the individual lessons or in their entirety here.

Part 2: Interacting, Analyzing, and Developing Your Own Opinions - The learning activities in this part combine to help you analyze theological positions on each of the doctrines and to articulate your own position. These activities help you to achieve course objective 3 above.

Theological Terms
In lessons 2, 3, 6, 9, and 12, you must read the short articles in Elwell on the theological terms for that lesson. You must write summaries or definitions (one or two sentences) for each term so as to make a personal glossary of theological terms. Compose your glossary in a Word file, and submit it at the end of the course.

Discussion/Interaction
As you read, view/listen, and learn, you must interact with the other students through three distinct discussion forums.

1. The first is the Key Idea Discussion Forum (in lessons 2 and 3 only), in which you work together to reflect on the various approaches to theology and their key ideas, and to begin crafting and refining your own key idea for theology.
2. The second is a Theological Discussion Forum (in lessons 6, 9, and 12 only), in which you work together to discuss which issues and questions related to each doctrine are worthy of consideration, what the various views on these issues are, and what questions you have about these issues/views.
3. The third is a Biblical Discussion Forum (in lessons 6, 9, and 12 only), in which you work together to discuss biblical passages relevant to the doctrine covered in each module. You may use this forum to contribute lists of important passages, to discuss how to interpret certain key passages, and/or to defend particular views of controversial passages.

Your participation in these forums will be graded on the basis of criteria described in the Discussion Forum Rubric available by clicking the link or navigating to the "Rubrics" folder inside the Resources tool.

Part 3: Articulating and Valuing the Implications of Doctrines
The learning activities in this part will help you integrate the doctrines you are studying with your own spiritual life and your ministry. These activities will thus help you to achieve course objective 4 above.

Key Idea Statements
In lesson 4, you must write a 1-page explanation of your tentative key idea for theology, explaining how it successfully relates various Christian doctrines to one another. Upon receiving feedback from me, you must revise this explanation into a Key Idea Statement Paper, written according to the Key Idea Statement Rubric available by clicking the link or navigating to the "Rubrics" folder inside the Resources tool.

Integrative Doctrinal Papers
In lessons 7, 10, and 13, you must write an integrative doctrinal paper, for a total of three papers of 8-10 pages each, in each of which you do the following:

- Present an appropriate organizational scheme for the issues covered under the broad doctrine that is the subject of that module.
  - For each issue/doctrine, interact with the following:
    - Relevant biblical teaching
    - Important statements from the history of the Church (early creeds, Reformation confessions, denominational doctrinal statements, or other historical materials described in the reading for the module)
    - Contemporary issues described in the reading for the module
  - For each issue/doctrine, state your own belief clearly.
  - Relate your belief on the doctrine as a whole to your key idea for theology.
  - Explain how your belief on the doctrine as a whole affects your own ministry.

These papers must follow the Integrative Doctrinal Paper Rubric available later in this document.

Grading Scale
The number of points available for the course is 500, and then the total will be divided by five. Final letter grades will then be applied with cutoffs as follows:
A 95, A- 90, B+ 87, B 83, B- 80, C+ 77, C 73, C- 70, D+ 67, D 63, D- 60, F below 60.

A grade of A+ will be given very rarely, when the student's work is truly exceptional. (At Gordon-Conwell, a grade of A+ and a grade of A are both counted the same way in calculating the student's GPA. Thus, a GPA above 4.0 is not possible.)

Instructor Feedback
I will attempt to respond to questions or messages within 24-48 hours, excluding Sundays. I will also do my best to provide feedback on assignments and post grades on Sakai within one week of submission.

Document Formatting and Submission
Assignments must be submitted electronically by posting on the Sakai site. Hard-copies will not be accepted. If you use a different word processor than MS-Word, please convert the files to PDF before submitting them. Otherwise please submit Word files. Assignments should be double spaced with 1" margins on all sides of each page, and should be printed in Times New Roman 12 point type or another font of similar size and appearance. Citations should preferably follow Turabian style, although APA style is also acceptable.

Late Work
All late work will be penalized the equivalent of one letter grade per week beyond the due date, unless arrangements are made ahead of time. Extenuating circumstances will be considered as appropriate. Work turned in later than the last day of week 14, will normally require that an extension be approved by the Seminary. If you anticipate a problem, contact me as soon as possible.

Netiquette
Gordon-Conwell does not tolerate disruptive or disrespectful behavior in the online communications in any course. Students should review the netiquette policy in the Student Handbook and this website: http://www.albion.com/netiquette.

Additional Seminary Policies

Academic Standards
Cheating and plagiarism are considered serious breaches of personal and academic integrity. Cheating involves, but is not necessarily limited to, the use of unauthorized sources of information during an examination or the submission of the same (or substantially same) work for credit in two or more courses without the knowledge and consent of the instructors. Plagiarism involves the use of another person’s distinctive ideas or words, whether published or unpublished, and representing them as one’s own instead of giving proper credit to the source. Plagiarism can also involve over dependence on other source material for the scope and substance of one’s writing. Such breaches in academic standards often result in a failing grade as well as other corrective measures. For more information, please consult the Student Handbook.

ADA Policy
The seminary complies with the provisions of the Americans with Disabilities Act. A student with a qualifying and authenticated disability who is in need of accommodations, should petition the seminary in accordance with the stated guidelines in the Student Handbook.

Extension Policy
Arrangements for submission of late work at a date on or before the “last day to submit written work”, as noted on the seminary’s Academic Calendar, are made between the student and professor. Formal petition to the Registration Office is not required at this time. This includes arrangements for the rescheduling of final exams.

However, course work (reading and written) to be submitted after the publicized calendar due date, must be approved by the Registration Office. An extension form, available online, must be submitted to the Registration Office prior to the “last day to submit written work.” Requests received after this date will either be denied or incur additional penalty. For a full discussion of this policy, please consult the Student Handbook.

Grades
Grades are posted on line within twenty-four hours of receipt from the professor. Students are expected to check their CAMS student portal in order to access posted grades. Those individuals who need an official grade report issued to a third party, should put their request in writing to the Registration Office. Faculty have six weeks from the course work due date to submit a final grade. Note that the final grade posted in Sakai is not official; the official final grade will be posted in the CAMS student portal.
