"The financial support provided by the Partnership Program is a major benefit, as I was able to graduate debt free. Equally as important was having a small army prayerfully standing with me through seminary. Don't do seminary alone!"

Partnership PROGRAM

GORDON  CONWELL
THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

An Invitation from the President

The single most important variable as to whether a person called to ministry or mission work will complete their education and go into ministry is the support that they receive. This support is both financial and spiritual. Both are necessary, and they are a seamless foundation for ministry. When students are asked why they are dropping back on their education or dropping out of their MA or MDiv program, the single most important reason is finances. They have to work more and study less.

Gordon-Conwell's Partnership Program is a unique program that answers this problem with clarity and compassion. I have met a number of these students and they are among the greatest celebrants: "I have a position and no debt!" Many others have to work for three or four years to pay off debt before they can serve as missionaries or as pastors. And, as you would guess, many never make it to the mission field.

Having served as a missionary—both to college students, and to Asian leaders—I know the value of partnership. Being held up by friends and partner churches, my wife and I were able to serve a total of 13 years. After six years of graduate school, we had only $2,000 of debt.

Please read this material prayerfully and see how you feel led to participate in the Partnership Program.

Blessings,

Scott W. Sunquist
President

"It takes a village to raise a seminarian, and the Partnership Program allows students to participate in God's work while attending seminary and building a thriving spiritual community. I walk confidently forward into God's calling while experiencing his provision and knowing he is with me in Spirit and in the community who support me in his work. If you have a calling to seminary, consider the Partnership Program, and watch God's mighty hand direct your path."
