

COPYRIGHT RELEASE FORM
FOR DEPOSITED STUDENT WORKS,
GORDON-CONWELL THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

130 Essex Street
South Hamilton, MA 01982

Copyright law automatically grants you the right to your own creative work, and your permission available to the public. Your signature on this form will release the seminary from the requirement of formal petition for each requested use and will greatly ease the manner in which your work can be shared with others.

In order to receive a grade for a thesis course on the transcript, students are required to sign this and vendor copyright release forms upon completion of the thesis. As part of your registration for a thesis course, please acknowledge your willingness to abide by the requirement by signing here:

Title of Work _____

Author _____

Date of Work _____

Regarding the above-mentioned work, I grant to Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary the permanent right:

- to make copies of it available for library circulation and public display (including electronic display)
- to manage or dispose of it as other library materials are managed or disposed of, including through sale
- to reproduce it in any form
- to distribute reproductions of it or portions thereof on a not-for-profit basis
- to permit distribution of it by vendors of theses and academic papers at prices set by them
- to publish abstracts of it and extracts from it in thesis lists and bibliographic databases
- to grant permission for quotation in publications
- to take reasonable noncommercial measures to make it more accessible to scholarship, e. g. through electronic translation.

The intention is to give Gordon-Conwell adequate clearances rather than exclusive rights. In other words, the author is free to seek commercial publication or to do whatever else he or she sees fit with the above-mentioned intellectual property, so long as the clearances here provided for are not abridged.
